

Amelanchier arborea Serviceberry

BOTANICAL NAME
PRONUNCIATION
COMMON NAME
TYPICAL HEIGHT
TYPICAL SPREAD
NATIVE HABITAT
DESCRIPTION

Amelanchier arborea am-el-ang'-kē-er ar-bor'-ē-a Serviceberry
15-25'
15-25'
Maine to Florida, west to Iowa

The Serviceberry's form can range from a large, multi-stemmed shrub to a small tree. In early Spring, it is covered with delicate white flowers that are followed by small, purple-black, edible fruits that are beloved by birds. Leaves are medium green, oval-shaped, with a fine-toothed edge. Fall color is an excellent mix of yellow-orange-red. The bark is smooth and gray when young, becoming furrowed with age.

FAMILY

Rosaceae

GENUS

Amelanchier

SPECIES

arborea

TREE LOCATIONS

92

Spring Photo

Winter Photo

Leaf Example

Bark Example

